

$100,000 PEACE PLAN PRIZE AWARDED

Advocates Entering World Court and Cooperation With League Without Full Membership at Present—Suggests League Membership Be Opened to All Nations and Provides for Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals. The content of these plans is therefore an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

These plans come from every group in American life. Some are obviously from lifelong students of history and international law. Some are from persons who have studied little, but who have themselves seen and felt the horror of war—or who are even now living out its tragedy.

But among them all are these dominant currents: that if war is honestly to be prevented, there must be a face-about on the part of the nations in their attitude toward it; that by some progressive agreement the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped; that while no political mechanism alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the will to cooperate is to be made effective; that mutual counsel among the nations is the real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its real causes and open discussion of them; and finally that there must be some means of defining, recording, interpreting and developing the law of nations.

Statement of Jury of Award

The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors.

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT

That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT

That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and propose participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

Safeguarding of Monroe Doctrine

1. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual counsel, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

In uniting its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insists upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

No Military or Economic Force

2. That the only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage to apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

The United States would assume no obligations under Article X in its present form, or under Article XVI in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

No Obligations Under Versailles Treaty

3. That the United States will accept no responsibilities under the Treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

League Open to All Nations

4. The United States Government proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, re drafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

Development of International Law

5. As a condition of its participation in the work and counsels of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

the American public taking part in the award.

I, therefore, commend the winning plan as unanimously selected by the Jury of Award, and Mr. Root's statement of the first object to be attained by the counsel and co-operation provided in the plan, in the interest and the wildest possible vote of the American people."

Father Whalen's Lecture on Mary Jemison.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 17th, Father Will Whalen will lecture in the Hanover Opera House on Mary Jemison, the White Squaw. Hanover is all keyed up about Father Whalen's coming. A number of our townsfolk intend to motor over to hear his vivid account of Mary's life, love, sufferings and supreme sacrifice. Father Whalen said he read nearly all the great tragedies of Greek dramatists, but found no heroine more beautiful or inspiring than the Adams county little Irish girl.

A Chautauqua approached Father Whalen with a really big offer to book him all next summer, but Fr. Whalen prefers his cottage in Buchanan Valley, winter and summer, to the tent. So the priest-author is arranging with another well-known speaker who will utilize the Whalen "Red Lily" as his lecture.

"Anyhow," the rector added, "our bishop doesn't care to have one of his men drop his priestly work, and take up even though for only a time another career. A priest is a priest 24 hours a day, and 365 days a year, 300 this year. That means he's at his post, whether in Harrisburg city or Buchanan Valley. I'd like to bank or spend that Chautauqua money, it's mighty inviting, but I've no desire to go forth and earn it. If I were a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, I'd keep the Doctor at the Old Jesuit Mission, and let Hyde go forth speechifying. But I stay put."

County Commissioners Organize.

The new board of County Commissioners, Charles A. Hershey, Reuben Schwartz and E. G. Lower, met on Monday to organize. Charles A. Hershey was chosen president of the board, and E. G. Lower Secretary.

The bond of County Treasurer Harry J. Troxell was approved. On Tuesday the County Commissioners met with the County Auditors to consider the matter of commission to be paid to the County Treasurer, and the mark arrived at was two and a half per cent on the first $130,000 and one half of one per cent on all over that sum.

This mark is lower than in former years, two and a half generally having been the unlimited commission and in Roy Zinn's case this was reduced to two and a half on first $160,000, and one half of one per cent on balance.

The jury had therefore before it an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens. The plans came from life-long students of history and international law. Some were from persons who have studied little, but who have themselves seen and felt the horror of war—or who are even now living out its tragedy.

However unlike, they almost all express or imply the same conviction: that this is the time for the nations of the earth to admit frankly that war is a crime and thus withdraw the legal and moral sanction too long permitted to it as a method of settling international disputes.

Thousands of plans show a deep aspiration to have the United States take the lead in a common agreement to brand war in a very truth an "outlaw."

The plans show a realization that no adequate defense against this situation has thus far been devised; and that no international law has been devised to control it. They point out that security of life and property is dependent upon the abolition of war and the cessation of the manufacture of munitions of war.

"Some of the plans labor with the problem of changing the hearts of men and disposing them toward peace and good-will; some labor to find a practicable means of dealing with the economic causes of war; some labor with adjusting racial animosities, with producing a finer conception of nationalism, etc., etc.

Through the plans as a whole run these dominant currents:

"That, if war is honestly to be prevented, there must be a right-about face on the part of the nations in their attitude toward it; and that by some progressive agreement the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped.

"That while no political mechanism alone will insure co-operation among the nations, there must be some machinery of co-operation if the will to co-operate is to be made effective; that mutual counsel among the nations is the real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its real causes and open discussion of them.

"Finally, that there must be some means of defining, recording, interpreting and developing the law of nations.

The Jury of Award unanimously selected the plan given as the one which most clearly reflected several of these currents.

"The Honorable Elihu Root, chairman of the Jury of Award, then prepared the following forward-looking statement, indicating that the mutual counsel and co-operation among the nations provided in the selected plan may lead to the realization of another—and not the least important—of the dominant desires of the American public as expressed in the plans:

"It is the unanimous hope of the jury that the first fruit of the mutual counsel and co-operation among the nations which will result from the adoption of the plan selected will be a general prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all materials of war."

The purpose of the American Peace Award is thus fulfilled: To reflect in a practicable plan the dominating national sentiment as expressed by the large cross-section of
